

Introducing a Revolutionary Way to Secure and Protect any PC

Protection Privacy Convenience Identity Management Parental Control

CompuGuard combines state of the art wireless technology with a proprietary software to develop a unique product to protect any PC against unauthorized use.

With a click of a button on a small wireless key, CompuGuard's customizable secure desktop screen takes over the operation of the PC. While in this mode, the computer may be used in a limited capacity allowing access to predetermined programs only while blocking others.

Whether the PC is used in a business environment or at home, this powerful yet simple tool provides peace of mind for any user.

As a parental control tool, it allows access to Homework Friendly Software, while blocking The Internet, selected video games and applications. When the parent is away from the computer, the Wireless Key instantly switches the Windows Operating System to our proprietary Secure Desktop.

No Need to enter passwords, the Wireless Key takes care of it all.

The Secure Desktop can block access to Webcams and Chat Rooms when unsupervised.

Users may customize the security level, allowing access only to pre-selected applications and video games while they are away unlike standard time-out features.

While PC is secured, new software can not be installed and Internet Explorer may be disabled.

CompuGuard's Proprietary Software allows users to limit the overall access to the PC by setting access times by day and hour.

The wireless key conveniently fits on a key chain or clips to the pocket for easy access.

CompuGuard's Wireless Identification Key uses reliable 900 MHZ Technology.

CompuGuard's time/date stamp Identity Management Log tracks user access.

Easy Installation; Long lasting battery included.
